

A-political, Non-Governmental Organisation (NPC)

There is ZERO accountability for corruption in government services and state owned companies, that are seen as a 'piggy-bank' for the corrupt and greedy:

All 'captured': SAA, Eskom, PRASA, Transnet, SABC, RAF, SAPS, NPA

"Justice delayed is justice denied."

Victims of crime suffer due to corruption in the criminal justice system. Investigations drag on for years or just gather dust. Competent investigative resources are far and few between and are often unlawfully deployed to silence whistle-blowers. Do you recognise the symptoms of corruption:-

Unemployment: Whistle-blowers are immediately suspended, threatened, fired, bullied, even the Protected Disclosures Act cannot protect them from unemployment.

Poor Health: The more corrupt a country is the more you will find health problems.

Pollution: Release of untreated and harmful waste into rivers and air.

Distrust of Police: Bribery, intimidation, abuse of power, unlawful arrests 'police state'.

Lack of respect for government: People who are aware of government corruption lose faith in the system and may not vote in future, entrenching the position of a corrupt government.

Economic decay: Decrease in foreign investment, delay in growth, lack of development, poverty.

Impact of corruption on the people of South Africa:

Corruption is a progressive disease in South Africa today. The disease has permeated all levels of state, due to lack of ethical leadership. It is so bad, that even the criminal justice system has been 'captured', resulting in corruption no longer being investigated, with some cases, simply swept under the carpet, to protect the corrupt and the resources being used against the whistle blowers.

Some progressive diseases can be halted and reversed by treatment. South Africa is sick from corruption, which is stealing the country's future and hope. 'Forensics for Justice' will 'treat' corruption in South Africa, by opening criminal cases and exposing it to public scrutiny.

The beneficiaries of corruption are a very small percentage of the South African population and unlawfully reap untold wealth, which negatively affects the poorest of the poor.

There is fast becoming an attitude amongst the 'connected' people of South Africa "if you can't beat them, join them." In order to have a job, food, education, clothes you must obey and/or carry out the unlawful bidding of the corrupt. Comply, or be fired or, worse still, be a target.

Something can and will be done about it: www.forensicsforjustice.org

TWITTER: @ForensicsforJustice.za e-mail: info@forensicsforjustice.org